

KEEPING THE LORD'S DAY HOLY WHEN WE CANNOT GATHER FOR MASS

For Christians, Sunday is unlike any other day of the week. We believe that Sunday is the original feast day; the day of the Creator's work; the weekly Easter; the first day; the eighth day; the day of the gift of the Spirit, of Christ-Light, of faith; an indispensable day. This is why Sunday is the principle day Christians gather to pray and celebrate the Eucharist.

However, when that Sunday gathering is not possible in our usual ways, we can still honor the Lord's Day and mark it as a reminder that, in Christ, we have eternal life. By keeping this day holy, even when circumstances prevent us from being together as a parish, we can still be spiritually united in prayer and serve as a sign to the world that Christ has conquered death.

One significant way that Christians have prayed each day, whether alone or with a community, is through the Liturgy of the Hours. This ancient practice, with origins in the Old Testament, continues to be a daily prayer discipline for religious communities today.

Even if we are not part of a religious community, praying the Liturgy of the Hours, especially on Sunday, can be a way for us to sustain ourselves and one another in common prayer during these unusual times. You can pray the Liturgy of the Hours anywhere, on your own or with a group. The leader for the prayer can be any Christian; it does not need to be a priest or a deacon. You will need a Bible or Internet access to find the Scripture passages.

The Liturgy of the Hours has two parts. First is a section giving praise to the Father through Christ that consists of prayerful reading or singing of the psalms and canticles (poetic passages from the Bible) and a Scripture passage. Having remembered God's blessings, the second part invites us to offer prayers for ourselves and the world.

There are two specific times when we pray the Liturgy of the Hours. As the sun rises on our day, we pray Morning Prayer to honor the risen Christ. As the sun sets, we pray Evening Prayer to recall Christ's love for us in his dying on the Cross. There are no exact times for praying these two "hours," as long as you do them around their related time of day. You can pray both hours on Sunday or just one of them as your schedule allows. The attached resource is an adapted version of the Liturgy of the Hours used by the Catholic Church.

In addition to prayer, we can keep holy the Lord's Day by doing works of mercy. Some things you can do even when you cannot gather with others: write a note or call a friend or family member who might feel lonely this day; donate money to organizations assisting those in need; make mealtimes this day more special; read or create something beautiful.

During this unusual time of crisis, we grieve that so many are unable to gather together for the Sunday Eucharist. Let us offer our hunger and sorrow in solidarity with those around the world who regularly go without the Sunday Eucharist because of illness, lack of ministers, or isolation. May Christ, who is present wherever two or three are gathered in his name, bring us all healing and peace and unite us together in his Spirit of love.

*How to find passages in the Bible: The Bible is divided into several books. Each book has chapters, and short sections of each chapter are numbered as verses. References to a Bible passage are listed in this way:

Name of the book in the Bible, then chapter: verses

For example, Ezekiel 34:12-14 indicates that the passage is in the book of Ezekiel, chapter 34, verses 12-14. Use the table of contents at the front of your Bible to find the book of Ezekiel. (If there is a number in front of the book title, such as “1 Peter,” that just means there is more than one book with the title, “Peter.” Just look for “1 Peter.”) Then turn to chapter 34 of that book. Next, look for the small numbers at the beginning of each sentence or section and find number 12. Read starting at the sentence immediately following that number 12 all the way to the end of the sentence or section marked number 14.

- Where did you see resurrection happen today? Give thanks for those moments.
- What are you most afraid of in these uncertain times? Offer your fears to God.
- In today's Gospel, Martha said, "Lord, if you had been here, my brother would not have died. But even now I know that whatever you ask of God, God will give you." Offer to God any of your anger or resentment, and ask the Spirit for faith.

GOSPEL CANTICLE

All make the Sign of the Cross as everyone prays the Magnificat out loud.

ALL: My soul ✠ proclaims the greatness of the Lord,
my spirit rejoices in God my Savior,

From this day all generations will call me blessed:
the Almighty has done great things for me,
and holy is his Name.

He has mercy on those who fear him
in every generation.

He has shown the strength of his arm,
he has scattered the proud in their conceit.

He has cast down the mighty from their thrones,
and has lifted up the lowly.
